

Earial - Ghouls

(Music, arrangement, lyrics: Steven van der Steen © 2006)

all wrong
harm done
can't run

it would have been better if i could decline these treacherous features in this head of mine i know what to fight, but i really can't see as something that's noble but blind triggers me i need to do for whom mistaken for right, all my reasons detained never aware of the leeches that played where is the mind that contains all the rules under the pavement i hide while it's cruel i was taught that i'd help those who fall that i'd climb for them - every wall crying i admitted i failed them and knew my mistake was to cry for them all while they're ghouls it's true (terug op Dm) i saw

it's you

it would have been better if i could decline
these treacherous features in this head of mine
i know what to fight, but i really can't see as something that's noble but blind triggers me (afmaken) why can't i control which takers i give to?

is that i do more important than who i choose? cause the healing feels bad and goes on they force me to continue cause they think it's fun